DEDICATION

It is with pleasure that we, the student body of North Georgia Tech, dedicate the 1971 TRADEWINDER to:

Buddy Dawkins

For the past 24 years Mr. Dawkins has directed his energies toward helping persons of all races and creeds prepare themselves for a better station in life. His patience and genuine concern for those persons wishing to learn have been an inspiration to many. We hope this gesture will in a very small way express our appreciation to you, Mr. Buddy Dawkins.

With this issue of the 1971 TRADEWINDER, some of us at North Georgia Tech mark the beginning and the end of a milestone in our lives. As we leave this place, full of memories, some sad, some exciting, we end one phase of the long process of growing up to begin a new one. Some may look forward to this new world ahead. Some may shrink back, trembling with fear at whatever may lie ahead. Whichever the case, the events that have taken place here will live on in our memories to be relived over and over in our minds. Let us hope the valued friends we have made, the places we've been and the things we've learned make up the better portion of these memories. For us, life will be new and completely different than what we have grown accustomed to here at North Georgia Tech. As editor of this, the 1971 TRADEWINDER, I would like to wish each and every one of you here a happy and prosperous future.

Terry McBride, Editor

THIS IS YOUR LIFE

Twenty-seven years ago, in February 1944, you began operation as Georgia's pioneer school for technical, trade and industrial training. You are located on the Old Ninth District A and M School Campus at Clarkesville and have carried throughout the years the proud heritage of the earliest concept of vocational training — that of learning by doing.

Today, Habersham County and the State of Georgia can reflect with pride the impact you have had upon industrial development, since several thousand graduates have taken their places in the State's labor market and have established an enviable record of success for themselves as well as a glowing reputation for you.

At the present time, you offer 20 different courses of training in four major areas: technical, trade, health and business education. Your training is conducted by competent instructors who share the knowledge and experience gained through many years of employment and teaching in their respective areas. You have equipment valued at approximately $1,500,000 in use for training a yearly enrollment of approximately 900 full-time day preparatory students.

In an effort to keep pace with Georgia's ever-expanding industrial economy, you hold steadfast to a policy of flexibility — always ready to adapt training needs to meet the demands of industry and the business occupations. As labor demands continue to rise, the need for more young people to avail themselves of occupational training steadily increases. The North Georgia Area and, in fact, the entire State of Georgia, will continue to reap the benefits of your top-quality graduates as long as its citizens, both young and old, are aware of the need and potential for technical and vocational training.
